Greatest NCAA 1-AA Team? 1996 Marshall

By Woody Woodrum

I meant to write awhile back about the high scoring teams in Feb. issue.

With new head coach Bob Pruett taking over for Jim Donnan, Erik Kresser at QB, transferring in from Florida, Randy Moss at receiver, transferring in from Florida State, and some of the best players in Marshall history (both Erik Thomas, a senior, and freshman Doug Chapman, now with ESPN, rushed for over 1,000 yards: 1,296 and 1,238 yards, respectively), the Herd won every game by at least two touchdowns.

The unsung defense, with players like B.J. Cohen, a nine-year veteran of the Arena League, and Billy Lyon, who played for the Packers and Vikings, and other All-Americans like corner Melvin Cunningham and linebackers Larry McCloud, Jermaine Swafford, the Herd allowed only 210 points in 15 games, outscoring opponents 43.9 - to - 14.0, and many of those points came for the opponents late in blowouts.

A total of 77 points were scored in fourth quarter by opponents, one-third of the points given up for the season.

The team had 18 All-Southern Conference selections, 13 of which were first-team selections. Moss was the SC Freshman of the Year, with 29 touchdowns (at least one in every game), 78 catches, 1,709 yards, and senior receiver Tim Martin added 74/868 and five scores.

Kresser threw for 3,407 yards, 31 touchdowns against 11 interceptions, and hit 60 percent passing. Eight of Marshall’s all-time 44 All-Americans were named in 1996.

That season, Thomas Haskins of VMI was the SC Offensive Player of the Year, but rushed for only 73 yards, and threw a touchdown on a halfback pass, in a MU 45-20 win in Lexington, Va.

The SC Defensive Player of the Year was Dexter Coakley of Appalachian State, but Marshall rushed for 207 yards (Thomas has 118 yards, Chapman 115) and passed for 245 more yards in a 24-10 win in Boone, in a game that Chris Hanson averaged a MU record 55.3 yards per punt.

The team became only the third MU team all-time to start 8-0, and only the third team to beat ASU in Boone since MU joined the SC in 1977.

Wins were staggering: 55-27 over Howard in the opener; 37-3 over Western Kentucky; 45-0 shutout of Tennessee-Chattanooga; 56-21 over Western Carolina; 56-25 over The Citadel; 42-17 over Furman in the regular season finale.

Marshall continued its scoring in the NCAA 1-AA playoffs. A 59-14 opening round over Delaware set the tone for the remainder of the post-season.

Furman was next, falling 54-0; then in the semi-finals, the Herd stopped the University of Northern Iowa 31-14; and defeated Furman 54-0 in the semi-final round, before taking on defending 1AA National Champion, Montana in the championship contest.

Marshall didn’t have any trouble with the Grizzlies, winning 49-29, leading 46-3 before pulling off the dogs, while claiming its second NCAA 1-AA National Championship.

Several players off this team went to various pro football leagues, including the NFL, AFL and CFL; included in this list were Moss, Kesser, Cohen, Lyon, Chapman, Ricky Hall, John Wade, Giradie Mercer, Jason Starkey, Chris Hanson, Jamie Wilson, John Grace, Tim Martin and Andre O'Neal.

Another future NFL player, Chad Pennington rode the bench as a red-shirt that season at QB.

Bob Pruett, a 1965 graduate of the school, was in his first season as coach.

Which team is the best?

In the last issue, we saw 1974 Texas Lutheran capture the NAIA Division II (1970-96) all-time best crown. 1974 Texas Lutheran then went on to accept the challenge of 1997 Mount Union, but lost 21-31. 1997 Mount Union (the NCAA Division III champ) continues to advance in the Champions Round. This issue will feature NAIA I (1956-1969 & 1997-2007) teams. As I stated previously, I am using Tex Noel’s rankings to pair these champions, with the proviso that no individual school is represented more than once in each tournament.

Here are the top 16 teams as rated by Tex:

1. 2000 Georgetown, KY

ROUND ONE:

2000 Georgetown, KY, won an extremely close game over 1964 Concordia-Moorehead, MN, 10-6. 1962 Central St., OK, thrashed 1956 St.

ROUND TWO:

Upsets continue to abound as the top seed, 2000 Georgetown, KY, is beaten badly by 1962 Central St., OK, 40-20. 1960 Lenoir-Rhyne, NC, and 1956 Montana St. put 82 points on the board with Lenoir-Rhyne prevailing, 52-30. The last of the top four seeds fell as 1967 Fairmont St., WV, narrowly defeated 1968 Troy St., AL, 21-20. 1961 Pittsburg St., KS, ended 1958 NE St., OK’s, dream with a 40-24 thumping. Moving into Round three, the highest remaining seed is a 9 – the top 8 teams are gone in some shocking upsets. [Personally, I think the teams of the first era were superior to the teams of the second era, and the results seem to back that up.]

ROUND THREE:

1960 Lenoir-Rhyne, NC, won over 1962 Central St., OK, 31-27 to move into the championship game. 1967 Fairmont St., WV, lost to 1961 Pittsburg St., KS, in another close game, 30-27.

THIRD PLACE:

A nine and a eleven seed meet for third place – and it is number nine, 1962 Central St., OK, prevailing over 1967 Fairmont St., WV, 27-15.

CHAMPIONSHIP:

The all-time champ will either be a ten seed or a thirteen seed. In a high scoring game, the thirteen seed, 1960 Lenoir-Rhyne, NC, defeats the ten seed, 1961 Pittsburg St., KS, 38-36 to claim the NAIA I (1956-1969 & 1997-2007) Crown.
PROLOGUE:

CHAMPIONS ROUND:

1997 Mount Union is now waiting for 1976 Texas A&I. Texas is a 12 point favorite and the team does not disappoint, winning 44-31. 1997 Mount Union’s aura of invincibility is over – they were soundly beaten by a very good team. 1976 Texas A&I will now advance to take on the next winner.

The next issue will feature the HBCU (Historically Black Colleges & Universities) teams (1956-2007); the following issue will have the College Division (1958-1974), and then the issue after that will feature the NCAA Division I-AA teams (1978-2007). And after that, we will see the big boys in action!

See you then!

Remember, if you were to conduct these tournaments again using my FAST-ACTION COLLEGE FOOTBALL BOARD GAME, your results will most likely vary. Just as in real life, when two teams play one another twice (or more) in the same season, the results are not always the same.

Looking for All-Time Scores of your favorite college football team? Have you misplaced the scores and dates of when your alma mater defeated its biggest rival while you were going to school?

The answers to all of these can be answered by IFRA member Richard Topp. He has record games, sites, dates and locations of not only major colleges; small colleges and also schools that no longer participate in college football.

Coach Faurot Goes out a Winner—on the last play of his career

By Tex Noel/1st-N-Goal (editor, The College Football Historian)

Many college football games have come down to the final play: known as a Hail-Mary pass—one that is thrown down the field, fans hold their collective breaths; then a yell of excitement as the receiver hauls in-the-pass and crosses into the end zone for the winning score.

But, how often is a game decided on the final play by a safety? While no specific details are known, one former coach concluded his career on such a play.

After 19 years on the Mizzou sidelines—and 28 overall—Missouri’s Don Faurot called it a career following the 1956 season.

His career, no doubt, had many outstanding games and plays. The last play of that season probably would go down as the most remarkable.

The Missouri Alumnus-Spring, 1994 Magazine (pages 18-20) highlighted Coach Faurot’s career in Columbia.

One game struck my attention—as how it ended: Missouri won on a safety on the final play of the game, defeating rival Kansas, 15-13.

Under the heading HOW SWEET IT WAS Coach Faurot recalled some of his most memorable games; then he came to the game against Kansas.

Another highlight was the victory over Kansas, 15-13, in my final game as head coach.

Offering his congratulations afterward, KU Coach Chuck Mather said ‘you ought to give me a letter.’

In his book, Ol’ Mizzou veteran scribe Bob Broeg describes that last victory.

“Before 28,000 on a homecoming for which the campus decoration had been dedicated to the retiring coach, the Kansas Jayhawks were spoilers until the final minutes. Then Dave Doane, understudy to the injured [Jimmy] Hunter, ducked a pass rush on fourth down and fired to top end Larry Plumb, who made a spectacular catch on the 14-yard pass for a touchdown. But a foulup on the snap kept placekicking sharpshooter Charley Rash from a winning conversion.

With little more than a minute left, a letdown tie seemed certain. Kansas had the ball on its own 20. Even when KU quarterback Wally Strauch was thrown for a 16-yard loss as he tried to pass, how could Missouri score without the ball?

Mather, the KU coach, misread the distance. He thought the Jayhawks were on the nine-yard line, not the 4. He sent a daring reverse, Stauch to Bobby Richardson, but Chuck Mehrer, playing defensive left tackle, read the misdirection. He barreled across the goal line and threw his 230-pound bear-hug into Robinson. The ballcarrier dropped in the end zone. Safety! Final score: Missouri 15, Kansas 13.

As the goal post went down and the Tigers carried off a happy, grinning Faurot, the Old Master of Mizzou received a standing ovation from the sentimental well-wishers who included the man from Independence, Harry Truman.

With the season ending victory over KU, the Tigers evened their all-time series with Kansas at 28-28-7.

Interesting, on the same page as his last game as coach; it also listed “highs and lows” of his career.

Faurot, a 1925 graduate of the University of Missouri, also played for the Tigers.

Under the lows, what caught this writer’s eye was how his first game as a player, ended—losing on a safety.

Now, how ironic is this???

Then, there was my first varsity game against Iowa State in 1923. Our punter, Forrest Fowler, was hurt. I was the next-best punter and was sent into the game with the ball on the two-yard line. The pass from center was a little low—but we’re not going to say that, I fumbled it, and I lost the game on a safety, 2-0. I never thought that Coach [Gwinn] Henry would play me again— but he was patient and forgiving, because I played 60 minutes in the next 6 games.

Faurot’s began his coaching career at Northeast Missouri Teachers Colleges, (in Kirksville; now Truman State), in 1926. In nine-years at the helm of the school his record was a 63-13-3.

Then, in 1935 he returned to Columbia where he quickly turned the Tigers fortunes: the previous three seasons, the Tigers had compiled a 2-23-2 mark.

He patrolled the Mizzou sidelines though the 1956 season, with the 1942-45 seasons off for WW II, finishing with a 101-79-10 and a career mark of 164-92-13.

Faurot was bestowed two additional honors 11 years apart. He was enshrined into the College Football Hall of Fame with the class of 1961; and in 1972, the playing field at Memorial Stadium named in honor of him.

• Another outstanding kicker from the state of Illinois was the Illini’s Otto Seiler. His successful kicks won three contests (vs Chicago, Indiana and Syracuse) all by identical 3-0 margins, in 1910.

• Charles Brickley’s converted four dropkick field goals while adding a fifth by place kick Harvard’s 15-5 victory over Yale in 1913.

• Harvard’s Eddie Mahan was successful on three drop-kick field goals, scoring his team’s only points in a 1915 (9-0) victory over Virginia.

• In 1917, Alvin “Bo” McMillin, who played for Centre, scored his Team’s and the game’s only points in the 3-0 win over the Kentucky Wildcats.

• In Army’s 12-0 triumph over Navy in 1924, the Cadets’ Ed Garbisch made four field goals to provide the difference.

• Yale’s Albie “Little Boy Blue” Booth successfully made a field goal, scoring the game’s only points in Yale’s 3-0 victory over rival Harvard, in 1931.

• In the snow, Michigan’s Harry Newman kicked a field goal in a 3-0 defeat of Minnesota, in 1932.
